Congratulations on your new Korg microLAB!

Korg along with our valued Education Dealers – is proud to support schools and music education however we can. Whether this microLAB is your first step to introducing music technology to your students or simply an addition to a larger program, we are excited to help you build the value of music and arts in your community. As you get your lab set up for the first time, we'd like to suggest you keep a couple of key items in mind. First, all of the items you will need to get set up and running are right here in your Teacher Starter Pack. These include your headphones, Korg microKEY, and any software ordered with your lab. We have also included a USB drive containing some additional helpful documents such as a long list of great websites and iPad apps to help you keep your students sharp and focused. Also included is a sample press release template you can use to announce your newly-enhanced school music program to your community. We encourage you to tout this addition to the school and get the community excited about the new technology in your program and what it means to the children.

Once you get your lab out of the boxes and set up for the first time, we suggest you register the microKEYs online at www.korg.com/register to take advantage of the complimentary second year of warranty.

Lastly, we love to hear success stories! As an Educational Division we are always looking for ways to help more schools integrate music technology into programs, and hearing how other programs are working is always a great way to support and motivate others to get more involved in the process. Send your stories and pictures to education@korgusa.com and we will share your success to help other music educators around the country.

Thank you again for your continued support of the arts with our children. We look forward to being a part of your music program for years to come!

Sincerely yours,

Korg Education Division
